During the ceremony Miss Margaret H. Owens, of Pittsburg, played the "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin and the "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser."

The ceremony took place beneath a bower of garden roses in the left wing of the spacious veranda on the McKean home. Palms and trellis of roses completed the decorations. The young daughter, Janet, and little son Donald of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Steele, were the bride's attendants. Master Donald, as ring bearer, and little Miss Janet, dressed in a dainty frock of white batiste and Irish lace, strewed rose petals and carried a basket of pink rose buds. Mr McKean followed with his daughter, who wore a creation of marquisette and Spanish lace over Panama silk. Her veil was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. The bride's only adornment was a string and pendant of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet

A King's Library.

Frederick the Great employed architects to build a library, but they fought with true professional etiquette over their designs. The monarch who had braved the might of Europe was not to be defeated by a parcel of nagging professional men. "Confound you," said the king, "don't waste any more time! This cupboard opposite me is of a very good design; copy that." They did as they were ordered.

Michelangelo's Attempt at Suicide.

Michelangelo after receiving a painful injury to his leg by falling from a scaffold while at work upon "The Last Judgment" became so melancholy that he shut himself in his room, refused to see any one and "resolved to let himself die." Fortunately his intentions were frustrated by the celebrated physician Bacio Rontini, who learned by accident of his condition.

The Earliest Cold Storage.

In Macaulay's essay on "Lord Bacon" he points out that in 1626 the subject of his memoir tried the experiment of stuffing a fowl with snow to prevent it from putrefying and in carrying out the work caught cold, from which he died. Macaulay adds: "In the last letter that he ever wrote, with fingers which, as he said, could not steadily hold a pen, he did not omit to mention that the experiment of the snow had succeeded excellently well." If, however, we turn to nature there are instances in Siberia of mammoths preserved in ice so that their flesh is still eatable from a period probably coeval with the first appearance of man on this globe. If the Romans brought to their banquets the dainties of the known world, had they not some knowledge of cold storage?—E. H. Hill in London Spectator.

The Misuse of Vinegar.

Dr. Mansell Maullin, M. A., writing in the London Lancet on the causes of gastric ulcer, mentions vinegar as one cause "In many of these instances, especially those which occur in young women, the effect of this chronic septic poisoning is intensified by the habit so many of them have of swallowing quantities of vinegar Information with regard to this is very difficult to obtain and is never volunteered. It has to be drawn out bit by bit, but I have met with many instances in which a pint a day has been consumed and a few in which the quantity was occasionally much larger The effect is probably greater because it is often taken between meals on an empty stomach under the curious impression that it will improve the complexion."

ANXIETY.

Anxiety is the poison of human life, the parent of many sins and of more miseries. Can your solicitude alter the cause or unravel the intricacy of human events? Can your curiosity pierce the cloud the Supreme Being hath made impenetrable? To provide against every important danger by the employment of the most promising means is the office of wisdom, but at this point wisdom stops.—Blair

EPISCOPALS ARE DEFEATED FOR THE FIRST TIME

Catholics Hit and Run While Other Fellows are Busy Muffing Things

S goecs m qetao taoi tao aoetttaoi

Through rambunctious ball playing the Catholics were enabled to humble the doughty Episcopals Thursday evening, and bring them away from that 1000 per cent mark they have so proudly hung to since the season opened. It could not be said to be altogether the fault of the Catholics that they won. They were aided and abetted by the Episcopals who when they stopped throwing the ball away, and stopped muffing things that came their way, had something like ten big errors chalked against them. And the scorekeepers were merciful at that.

Without regard for anybody's feelings but their own the Catholics started cavorting around the bases in the first inning. Deitz scored,. Pieper after singling and stealing second in the second completed the circle through a fielder's choice.

A serious effort brought three for the Episcopals in the fourth. Jenkins, Guder and Crumrine scored on two hits, an ugly error, a couple of fielder's choices and a passed ball.

In the fifth inning for the Catholics, Piper trotted around again. Then in the next inning two scores came around a fielder's choicee, anerror and a freak three bagger being responsible. Rider and Pieper scored. Kelly and Deitz both got singles in the seventh and were brought in by Buchanan with a two bagger. Buchanan with a two bagger. Buchanan went third on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly. Score:

BASEBALL BINGLES

Crumrine was declared out in the second in running to first base for interfering with Glasser endeavoring to catch a fly.

* * *

Manager McCloskey quoted a truism at about the beginning of the third inning that it couldn't be expected that the Episcopals would win them all.

* * *

Deitz on short for the Catholics was picking up everything that came his way last night.

* * *

Capt Billy Kuhn was a trifle incensed at the way things were going for the Episcopals and made a special request that when the score was published no error be omitted. And there you are.

* * *

Spridеck was removed from the the game by Manager McCloskey because he loafed in left. Ban Roberts relieved him.

Champion Egg Layers.

Many insects are extremely prolific All of the order Hymenoptera, the bees and ants, lay large numbers, but they are easily excelled by the order Plecoptera, the stone flies, one female of which deposits from 5,000 to 6,000 eggs But the champion egg layers are the insects embraced in the order Isoptera, the white ants Dr. Howard states that these insects are called white ants because they are not ants and because they are not white, but he further goes on to tell us that the females of some of the African species grow to an enormous size, and their abdomen, swollen with eggs, becomes as big as a large potato. The rate at which the eggs are laid is extraordinary, being about sixty a minute, or 80,000 and upward a day.

An Effective Prayer.

"Years ago," says a well known actor, "I appeared in an amateur performance of a play that had a distinct religious flavor. The leading player had studied for the ministry and had a deep and sonorous voice. In one of the scenes the lights were supposed to be turned down and a raging storm simulated. The accompanying lines were:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the powers of darkness.'

"The leading man spoke the lines, but darkness didn't follow. He spoke them again, and still the stage was distressingly light. Finally he roared:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the power of darkness and also give that fool gas man sense enough to turn down the lights.'

"The gas lights went down, and the audience roared."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Bible as a Detective.

The Bible was used until quite recent years for the detection of thieves. Dr. Jessopp told in 1882 how there were still persons living who had witnessed the ordeal to which an East Anglican parson subjected his servants when his cash box was missing. He ordered them all into his bedroom and ranged them around the walls From the center of the ceiling hung the rope used to lower coffins into the churchyard graves, wound round a Bible, from the leaves of which projected the church door key. This was sent spinning round, and the one at whom the key pointed when it stopped was proclaimed as the thief. Happily the man thus marked out was able to prove an alibi. But this did not convince the servants that the test was a bad one. They only concluded that the thief was not there.—London Chronicle.

An Unbeliever.

"This here paper says as how they've just discovered the remains of a thirty-five foot saurian in Nevada."

"What in thunder's a saurian?"

"Blamed if I know. I s'pose mebbe it's somethin' like a sardine."

"Huh. You ign'rant chump, they ain't no thirty-five foot sardines."

"Well, there could be the remains of one, couldn't they?"

"Haw-haw! Who'd ever buy a box of them things?"

"Darn you, you're just like all the rest of them here smart guys that are upsettin' religion. I think they is remains of thirty-five foot sardines in Nevada. I got faith to suppose that they is also remains of men big enough to buy 'em by the box an' eat 'em on crackers. You know what you are? You are one of these here atheists!"—

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The story in the newspapers of a commanding officer of the United States army in Texas taking a brigade of 4,000 men on a 500 mile hike in the sweltering heat in which 300 or more were prostrated the first day, recalls a similar incident during the late Spanish-American war. This occurred in Charleston, South Carolina, where the army was assembled to embark for Porto Rico. In order to give the troops a taste of the arbitrary power of the officers, the commanders ordered the men equipped in heavy marching order on one of the hottest days of the year, and doublequicked them on a 20-mile hike. As a result hundreds were prostrated by the heat and sunstroke, and many deaths resulted.

In the column was Capt. Harry Alvan Hall, commander of Co. H, 16th Regiment, N. G. P., who was since United States District Attorney at Pittsburg, and well known in Washington county. On the hike Capt Hall passed a fine spring by the road side, and as his men were well nigh exhausted, he ordered a halt and commanded all to stop and take a drink. While they were disporting about the spring, one of the commanding generals, a punctilious West Pointer, galloped up and sternly inquired:

"Who commands this company?"

"I, Capt. Harry Alvan Hall, Co. H, 16th Pennsylvania," replied the captain, saluting, but at the same time displaying a scrappy disposition.

"Don't you know, Capt Hall," replied the general mildly, "that this is a very unmilitary proceeding?"

"Well," retorted the captain "I don't see anything very military about this march, anyhow."

The general rode off without another word.

Capt. Hall, who was one of the prominent attorneys of Western Pennsylvania, was appointed judge advocate general while the army was at Charleston, to pass sentence upon malefastors tried by court martial. One of the cases was that of a sentinel caught sleeping at his post. The general in command was determined to inflict the extreme penalty, and have the men sentenced to be shot but Capt Hall said:

"No! We'll inflict no such penalty. What the use of killing a man for sleeping at his post when the enemy is 500 miles away with the ocean between? Punish him properly, but no death sentences goes in this case. In the enemy's country it would be different."

Capt Hall is now president judge of the district composed of Clinton, Elk and Cameron counties. He is a brother of State Seuator J. K. P. Hall of the 26th district.

Why He Remained Home.

Model Husband (boastfully)—Yes, gentlemen, I've been married ten years and never spent a night away from home yet.

Doubting Thomas—Large and interesting family, eh?

"Only three of us."

"Have one child, eh?"

"No; the other is my wife's mother."

Antiquity of Engraving.

Gems were engraved at a very early period of the world's history. The very oldest specimen of this art in existence is believed to be a square signet of yellow jasper engraved in the year 1450 B. C. and now in the British museum. The engraving upon it is a fair picture of the horse of Amenophis II., and the characters underneath have been deciphered as being the names and titles of that monarch.

Revenge.

Martha, aged five, precocious and observant, had been severely spanked by her mother. She sat on the floor, her eyes filled with angry tears. Suddenly she rose with a determined look upon her little face and seized her hat. "Where are you going?" asked her mother. "Out to tell all the family secrets to the neighbors," said the child firmly.—Life.

A Child's Quick Wit.

It was a very pretty reply Roger Sherman's little daughter made to George Washington. The general had been calling on her father, and the young miss opened the door for him as he was leaving.

"You deserve a better office, my little lady," remarked Washington, smiling at her.

"Yes, sir," she replied, with a courtesy; "to let you in."—Boston Transcript.

The Poor Victim.

Philanthropic Old Lady—But I gave you sixpence yesterday on condition that you were not to spend it in drink, and I can distinctly smell liquor on you. Deadhouse Dan—Lady, I am the victim of cruel circumstances. I found a bottle containin' wot appeared ter me ter be worter. Wot was my 'orror, lady, to find arter drinkin' of it all that it were whisky!—Sydney Bulletin.

Getting the Exact Spot.

An emergency call from a policeman for a tape measure kept two women waiting in the dressmaker's parlor for five minutes. There were other tape measures there which the dressmaker might have used, but she was too busy pondering the circumstance that had suddenly converted her into an ally of the police department. Presently the policeman returned the tape.

"What did you want it for?" she asked.

"To help find the right place to shoot a horse with a broken leg," he said. "The vital spot is just three inches above that little swirl in his forehead where a dozen crowns seem to meet. I am not very good at guessing, so we thought it safest to find the exact spot with a tape measure."—New York Sun.

Music of the Drum.

All musical authorities have agreed that when used in a proper way the drum is thoroughly musical. The common snare or side drum is freely used in musical composition. A large number of drummers performing simultaneously out of doors produce good music. In this connection Berlioz, the composer, pointed out that a sound that was insignificant when heard singly, such as the clink of one or two muskets at shoulder arms or the thud as the butt comes to the ground at ground arms, becomes brilliant and attractive if performed by a thousand men together.

Crumpled Them.

We observe that the man's fingers are all twisted and bent into the most uncouth shapes.

"Poor fellow!" we say to our friend. "Evidently he is a victim of rheumatism."

"No," our friend explains. "He is deaf and dumb and has been trying to talk Scotch dialect on his fingers."—Life.

Would Have to Move.

"John, the janitor's son whipped Jimmy today."

"Well, that's no great calamity. Suppose Jimmy had whipped the janitor's son!"—Pittsburg Post.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

UNIVERSITY OF FRANCE.

Essentially the Same Today as When Established by Napoleon.

In the United States there are many universities which are free from state control, but in France there is only one university, and it is an absolute instrument of the state. It is true that there are schools of higher learning, which were founded in 1870 as universities, but five years afterward the title was withdrawn, and they are now called "instituts." They are five in number and are located in Paris, Lille, Lyons, Toulouse and Angers.

But the University of France is an entirely different organization. It is the official school. It is centralized in Paris and has under it a vast multitude of establishments, faculties, college and primary schools, distributed over the whole surface of the country. Directly or indirectly they all depend on the government.

The university was established by Napoleon, and in spite of certain modifications which it has undergone during years it is the same today in its essential elements as the day be founded it. Just as he established the entire civil administration, with its prefects, subprefects, judges, ministers of finance, so he created in 1806 this vast educational organization, with its countless professors, who control the entire intellectual training of France.—America.

Ancient Rome's Libraries.

The libraries of ancient Rome were immense and splendid. Lucullus, whose name is associated with table luxuries, expended much of his wealth on books. His library, says Plutarch, had "walks, galleries and cabinets open to all visitors." Julius Caesar proposed to open this library definitely to the public.

How were these vast libraries, in addition to the book shops, filled? With his trained staff of readers and transcribers, a publisher could turn out an edition of any work at very cheap rates, and almost at a moment's notice. There was no initial expense of typesetting before a single copy could be produced, no ruinous extras in the shape of printers' corrections. The manuscript came from the author; the publisher handed it over to his slaves, and if a book of modest dimensions; the complete edition could be ready, if necessary, within twenty-four hours. Actually, then, books were produced and sold more easily and quickly in ancient Rome than they are in modern London.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

The "Iliad" Not a Myth.

The fall of Troy after a ten year siege by the Grecian princes about 1184 B. C. has long been considered as a rather mythical foundation for Homer's immortal epic, the "Iliad." But in 1876 the excavations of Schliemann on the reputed site of Troy brought to light under the ashes of two superincumbent fortress cities the remains answering to the descriptions of Homer and a hidden vault containing goblets, bowls, vases, gems, jewels, armes de luxe and like articles in gold, silver and bronze. These treasures are now generally acknowledged to be the veritable remnants of the once vast riches of Priam, which, although depleted by ten years of costly warfare in the purchase of supplies and mercenaries and the final sack of the ruined city, were thus preserved to enrich the museums of Europe and greatly increase our realization of the wealth and art of that ancient Ilium, which we have hitherto been disposed to consider a poet's dream.—Charles Winslow Hall in National Magazine.

Old Carving Terms.

In a list of carving terms in use in 1696, which appeared in Dr. Salmon's "Receipts," are the following:

"Leach that brawn. Lift that swan. Rear that goose. Spoil that hen. Fract that chicken. Sauce that capon. Unbrace that mallard. Unlace that coney. Dismember that heron. Disfigure that peacock. Display that crane. Untach that curley. Unjoin that bittern. Allay that pheasant. Wing that quail. Mince that plover. Wing that partridge. Thigh that pigeon. Border that pastry. Thigh that woodcock. Break that hare.

Heard in the Hall.

"You don't know enough to stay in when it rains," derisively said the cane to the umbrella.

"Look here," retorted the umbrella, "such bluffs from a mere stick like you don't go with me. My motto is 'Put up or shut up' every time."

A Famous Cemetery.

Greenwood cemetery, in Brooklyn, noted the world over for its beauty and the magnificence of its monuments, shafts and mausoleums, contains more than 315,000 bodies. It has an area of 474 acres and about fifteen miles of walks.

Two Sets of Muscles.

You have two sets of muscles—the outer ones, which you can feel, and the inner ones, which are your lungs, heart, stomach and other internal organs. The outer ones are conveniences for performing actions. The inner ones are your life—the "fate" which makes you happy or depressed, powerful or weak, useful or the contrary. These inner muscles require training, just like any other muscles, by intelligently directed exercise.—J. Edmund Thompson in National Magazine.

Music of Flapping Wings.

The slow flapping of a butterfly's wings produces no sound. When the movements are rapid a noise is produced, which increases with the number of vibrations. Thus the housefly, which produces the sound of F, vibrates its wings 21,120 times a minute, or 335 times a second, and the bee, which makes the sound of A, as many as 26,400 times, or 440 times a second. A tired bee hums on E and therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 330 times a second.

Hours of Rest.

One hour of rest as a rule, should be the same every night. It is not safe for even the most robust and healthy to violate the law of regularity in this matter. The man or woman who retires and rises at irregular periods, varying from two to four or six hours, as many are accustomed to do, cannot enjoy good health or live long and happily. Every one should adopt a rule to retire at a certain hour and adhere to it as strictly as possible, never deviating from it except in emergencies.

HARD ON THE BOROUGHS.

By a partial publication of the State and county tax duplicates, five boroughs in the county are shown to pay more than one-fifth of all the State and county taxes. When the assessment of all the boroughs is counted it will be found that the towns, which for the most part carry a bonded indebtedness for street paving, sewering, policing, etc pay more of the county expenses than the farming interests, who get the biggest end of the expenditures. The farmers pay a minimum local tax for roads and schools while the boroughs are heavily taxed for borough expenses, street paving and schools. Fallowfield township, for example, has been paying half a mill school tax while Charleroi's school tax is 15 mills. At the same time Charleroi pays nearly as much of the county taxation as Fallowfield, while the latter gets a lot more direct benefit from the county.

In 1905 when the first attempt was made to get political prestige from the so-called roads movement, in order to play for the farmer vote, statistics were carefullly prepared at the county seat showing at that time that the assessment of farm lands was 35 per cent of the county valuation, while the assessment of boroughs constituted 37 per cent, the balance, 28 per cent being levied on coal lands. It was pointed out that the assessments in the boroughs and on coal lands would constantly increase, so that these interests would bear the burden of making the county roads, and the farmers, who would derive the most benefit would have the least to pay. Thus they would get roads largely at the expense of the boroughs and they would have the use of the borough streets besides, without the latter costing the user a cent.

If the boroughs paid 37 per cent of the county expenses in 1905, they pay infinitely more now, and of all the expenditures incurred by the county commissioners for the years to come the bulk of the burden will fall upon the boroughs.

BUSINESS MEN WILL HOLD ANNUAL OUTING IN AUGUST

Ox Roast to be Feature of Affair at Eldora Park

BUSINESS IS TAKEN UP

Association Listens to Address of Pttsburg Merchant on "Organization"

With considerable important business to dispose of the Charleroi Business Men's Association had an interesting meeting Thursday night at their rooms in the Kirk and Clark building. Among other matters taken up was that of the annual picnic and outing. It was decided to have this affair some time in August, and Eldora Park was selected as the place. In all probability an ox roast will be arranged and there will be some other features unusual to a picnic of the kind. W. D. Pollock, W. C. Clark and D. H. Johnson, were appointed a committee to look after the matter.

C. A. Stewart, representing the Retail Merchants Association of Pennsylvania was present and made a talk urging the local business men to join. The matter was placed in the hands of an investigating committee.

A man by the name of Alderman was present,asking about a site for a small axle and single tree manufactory. He was recently burned out at Morgantown, and desires to locate here. The matter was placed in the hands of a committee to assist him in securing a location.

Progress was reported by a committee to look after securing reduced telephone rates to Pittsburg and by the committee to look after securing street railway rights of way to Bentleyville. Routine business of the ordinary nature was transacted.

Buys Bowling Alley.

Lee Honsaker, who for some months has been employed by S. T. Franks, the Second street grocer, has purchased the Casino bowling alley from George Bailey. Mr. Bailey is now employed at Eldora Park. Honsaker took charge of the bowling alley Thursday morning.

Miss Guillemena Falise, daughter of Mr and Mrs Ferdinand Falise, and Frank Hubinon, of North Charleroi, were quietly married last evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the parents on Meadow avenue. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Joseph Wheeler in the presence of memebers of the family and number of friends.

Following the wedding a dinner was served in honor of the couple. Later in the evening a reception was tendered them by their friends at the Belgium club.

Both Mr. and Mrs Hubinon are well known and popular in this vicinity. The former is employed at the Seamless Tube plant at Monessen, while the latter was assistant manager of the Co-operative store. The couple will take up housekeeping at once at the home of the bride's parents.

Ringgolds Making Arrangements for Annual Affair to be Held During August

To make preliminary arrangements for the reunion of the Ringgold Cavalry survivors a committee visited Belle Vernon Thursday. The last reunion was held during August of last year at Donora, and it was decided at that time to hold this year's convention at Belle Vernon. No date has been decided on definitely for the reunion but it will probably be about August 16 and 17. It is expected that some noted army men can be secured to give addresses.

Frye-McKean Nuptials Performed This Afternoon

WEDDING BRILLIANT EVENT

The engagement of Miss Mary Eleanor M-Kean and Mr.Lawrence Bentley Frye, successor to Reeves and Reeves, undertakers, was concluded at a beautifully appointed but quiet wedding this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. McKean, of Lincoln avenue.

The service was read by the Rev. Perrin Baker of the Belle Vernon Presbyterian church. Miss Gertrude May Harris, a member of the Cambrian Concert Co., of Pittsburg, who has been making a tour of this country and who expects to tour part of Europe this summer sang, "Oh, Promise Me," before the service and afterwards sang, "Hearts and Flowers."

During the ceremony Miss Margaret H. Owens, of Pittsburg, played the "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin and the "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser."

The ceremony took place beneath a bower of garden roses in the left wing of the spacious veranda on the McKean home. Palms and trellis of roses completed the decorations. The young daughter, Janet, and little son Donald of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Steele, were the bride's attendants. Master Donald, as ring bearer, and little Miss Janet, dressed in a dainty frock of white batiste and Irish lace, strewed rose petals and carried a basket of pink rose buds. Mr McKean followed with his daughter, who wore a creation of marquisette and Spanish lace over Panama silk. Her veil was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. The bride's only adornment was a string and pendant of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet

REAL SHOE MEN 419 McKean Ave.

A King's Library.

Frederick the Great employed architects to build a library, but they fought with true professional etiquette over their designs. The monarch who had braved the might of Europe was not to be defeated by a parcel of nagging professional men. "Confound you," said the king, "don't waste any more time! This cupboard opposite me is of a very good design; copy that." They did as they were ordered.

Michelangelo's Attempt at Suicide.

Michelangelo after receiving a painful injury to his leg by falling from a scaffold while at work upon "The Last Judgment" became so melancholy that he shut himself in his room, refused to see any one and "resolved to let himself die." Fortunately his intentions were frustrated by the celebrated physician Bacio Rontini, who learned by accident of his condition.

The Earliest Cold Storage.

In Macaulay's essay on "Lord Bacon" he points out that in 1626 the subject of his memoir tried the experiment of stuffing a fowl with snow to prevent it from putrefying and in carrying out the work caught cold, from which he died. Macaulay adds: "In the last letter that he ever wrote, with fingers which, as he said, could not steadily hold a pen, he did not omit to mention that the experiment of the snow had succeeded excellently well." If, however, we turn to nature there are instances in Siberia of mammoths preserved in ice so that their flesh is still eatable from a period probably coeval with the first appearance of man on this globe. If the Romans brought to their banquets the dainties of the known world, had they not some knowledge of cold storage?—E. H. Hill in London Spectator.

The Misuse of Vinegar.

Dr. Mansell Maullio, M. A., writing in the London Lancet on the causes of gastric ulcer, mentions vinegar as one cause. "In many of these instances, especially those which occur in young women, the effect of this chronic septic poisoning is intensified by the habit so many of them have of swallowing quantities of vinegar. Information with regard to this is very difficult to obtain and is never volunteered. It has to be drawn out bit by bit, but I have met with many instances in which a pint a day has been consumed and a few in which the quantity was occasionally much larger. The effect is probably greater because it is often taken between meals on an empty stomach under the curious impression that it will improve the complexion."

ANXIETY.

Anxiety is the poison of human life, the parent of many sins and of more miseries. Can your solicitude alter the cause or unravel the mincacy of human events? Can your curiosity pierce the cloud the Supreme Being hath made impenetrable? To provide against every important danger by the employment of the most promising means is the office of wisdom, but at this point wisdom stops.—Blair

EPISCOPALS ARE DEFEATED FOR THE FIRST TIME

Catholics Hit and Run While Other Fellows are Busy Muffing Things

S goecs m qetao taoi tao aoetttaoi

Through rambunctious ball playing the Catholics were enabled to humble the doughty Episcopals Thursday evening, and bring them away from that 1000 per cent mark they have so proudly hung to since the seuson opened. It could not be said to be altogether the fault of the Catholics that they won. They were aided and abetted by the Episcopals who when they stopped throwing the ball away, and stopped muffing things that came their way, had something like ten big errors chalked against them. And the scorekeepers were merciful at that.

Without regard for anybody's feelings but their own the Catholics started cavorting around the bases in the first inning. Deitz scored.. Pieper after singling and stealing second in the second completed the circle through a fielder's choice.

A serious effort brought three for the Episcopals in the fourth. Jenkins, Guder and Crumrine scored on two hits, an ugly error, a couple of fielder's choices and a passed ball.

In the fifth inning for the Catholics, Piper trotted around again. Then in the next inning two scores came around a fielder's choicee, anerror and a freak three bagger being responsible. Rider and Pieper scored. Kelly and Deitz both got singles in the seventh and were brought in by Buchanan with a two bagger. Buchanan with a two bagger. Buchanan went third on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly. Score:

BASEBALL BINGLES

Crumrine was declared out in the second in running to first base for interfering with Glasser endeavoring to catch a fly.

* * *

Manager McCloskey quoted a truism at about the beginning of the third inning that it couldn't be expected that the Episcopals would win them all.

* * *

Deitz on short for the Catholics was picking up everything that came his way last night.

* * *

Capt Billy Kuhn was a trifle incensed at the way things were going for the Episcopals and made a special request that when the score was published no error be omitted. And there you are.

* * *

COUPLE WEDDED AT HOME

was a shower of lilies of the valley and white rose buds. It was made into five separate parts, each of which was a corsage bouquet and was given to Miss Price and Miss Blanche Frye, Miss Alice McKean, Miss Harris and Miss Owens. In each bouquet was hidden a favor for each of the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs Frye left this evening for an eastern trip for about a fortnight, after which they will be at home to their friends on Fridays after July 15.

Mutual Forbearance.

"You and your wife seem to get along nicely."

"Fairly well. We had an understanding from the start. I wasn't to expect a dollar to buy more than a dollar's worth of goods, and she wasn't to tell me about the fine men she might have married."—Washington Herald.

Champion Egg Layers.

Many insects are extremely prolific. All of the order Hymenoptera, the bees and ants, lay large numbers, but they are easily excelled by the order Pleoptera, the stone flies, one female of which deposits from 5,000 to 6,000 eggs. But the champion egg layers are the insects embraced in the order Isoptera, the white ants. Dr. Howard states that these insects are called white ants because they are not ants and because they are not white, but he further goes on to tell us that the females of some of the African species grow to an enormous size, and their abdomen, swollen with eggs, becomes as big as a large potato. The rate at which the eggs are laid is extraordinary, being about sixty a minute, or 80,000 and upward a day.

An Effective Prayer.

"Years ago," says a well known actor, "I appeared in an amateur performance of a play that had a distinct religious flavor. The leading player had studied for the ministry and had a deep and sonorous voice. In one of the scenes the lights were supposed to be turned down and a raging storm simulated. The accompanying lines were:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the powers of darkness.'

"The leading man spoke the lines, but darkness didn't follow. He spoke them again, and still the stage was distressingly light. Finally he roared:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the power of darkness and also give that fool gas man sense enough to turn down the lights.'

"The gas lights went down, and the audience roared."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Bible as a Detective.

The Bible was used until quite recent years for the detection of thieves. Dr. Jessopp told in 1882 how there were still persons living who had witnessed the ordeal to which an East Anglican parson subjected his servants when his watch was missing. He ordered them all into his bedroom and ranged them around the walls. From the center of the ceiling hung the rope used to lower coffins into the churchyard graves, wound round a Bible, from the leaves of which projected the church door key. This was sent spinning round, and the one at whom the key pointed when it stopped was proclaimed as the thief. Happily the man thus marked out was able to prove an alibi. But this did not convince the servants that the test was a bad one. They only concluded that the thief was not there.—London Chronicle.

An Unbeliever.

"This here paper says as how they've just discovered the remains of a thirty-five foot saurian in Nevada."

"What in thunder's a saurian?"

"Blamed if I know. I s'pose mebbe it's somethin' like a sardine."

"Haw-haw! You ign'rant chump, they ain't no thirty-five foot sardines."

"Well, there could be the remains of one, couldn't they?"

"Haw-haw! Who'd ever buy a box of them things?"

"Darn you, you're just like all the rest of these here smart guys that are upsettin' religion. I think they is remains of thirty-five foot sardines in Nevada. I got faith to suppose that they is also remains of men big enough to buy 'em by the box an' eat 'em on crackers. You know what you are? You are one of these here athelsts!"—

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The story in the newspapers of a commanding officer of the United States Army in Texas taking a brigade of 4,000 men on a 500 mile hike in the sweltering heat in which 300 or more were prostrated the first day, recalls a similar incident during the late Spanish-American war. This occurred in Charleston, South Carolina, where the army was assembled to embark for Porto Rico. In order to give the troops a taste of the arbitrary power of the officers, the commanders ordered the men equipped in heavy marching order on one of the hottest days of the year, and double-quicked them on a 20-mile hike. As a result hundreds were prostrated by the heat and sunstroke, and many deaths resulted.

In the column was Capt. Harry Alvan Hall, commander of Co. H, 16th Regiment, N. G. P., who was since United States District Attorney at Pittsburg, and well known in Washington county. On the hike Capt Hall passed a fine spring by the road side, and as his men were well nigh exhausted, he ordered a halt and commanded all to stop and take a drink. While they were disporting about the spring, one of the commanding generals, a punctilious West Pointer, galloped up and sternly inquired:

"Who commands this company?"

"I, Capt. Harry Alvan Hall, Co. H, 16th Pennsylvania," replied the captain, saluting, but at the same time displaying a scrappy disposition.

"Don't you know, Capt Hall," replied the general mildly, "that this is a very unmilitary proceeding?"

"Well," retorted the captain "I don't see anything very military about this march, anyhow."

The general rode off without another word.

Capt. Hall, who was one of the prominent attorneys of Western Pennsylvania, was appointed judge advocate general while the army was at Charleston, to pass sentence upon malefastors tried by court martial. One of the cases was that of a sentinel caught sleeping at his post. The general in command was determined to inflict the extreme penalty, and have the men sentenced to be shot but Capt Hall said:

"No! We'll inflict no such penalty. What the use of killing a man for sleeping at his post when the enemy is 500 miles away with the ocean between? Punish him properly, but no death sentences goes in this case. In the enemy's country it would be different."

Capt Hall is now president judge of the district composed of Clinton, Elk and Cameron counties. He is a brother of State Seuator J. K. P. Hall of the 26th district.

Why He Remained Home.

Model Husband (boastfully)—Yes, gentlemen, I've been married ten years and never spent a night away from home yet.

Doubting Thomas—Large and interesting family, eh?

"Only three of us."

"Have one child, eh?"

"No; the other is my wife's mother."

Antiquity of Engraving.

Gems were engraved at a very early period of the world's history. The very oldest specimen of this art in existence is believed to be a square signet of yellow jasper engraved in the year 1450 B. C. and now in the British museum. The engraving upon it is a fair picture of the horse of Amenophis II., and the characters underneath have been deciphered as being the names and titles of that monarch.

Revenge.

Martha, aged five, precocious and observant, had been severely spanked by her mother. She sat on the floor, her eyes filled with angry tears. Suddenly she rose with a determined look upon her little face and seized her hat. "Where are you going?" asked her mother. "Out to tell all the family secrets to the neighbors," said the child firmly.—Life.

A Child's Quick Wit.

It was a very pretty reply Roger Sherman's little daughter made to George Washington. The general had been calling on her father, and the young miss opened the door for him as he was leaving.

"You deserve a better office, my little lady," remarked Washington, smiling at her.

"Yes, sir," she replied, with a courtesy; "so let you in."—Boston Transcript.

The Poor Victim.

Philanthropic Old Lady—But I gave you sixpence yesterday on condition that you were not to spend it in drink, and I can distinctly smell liquor on you. Deadhouse Dan—Lady, I am the victim of cruel circumstances. I found a bottle containin' wot appeared ter me ter be worter. Wot was my error, lady, to find arter drinkin' of it all that it were whisky!—Sydney Bulletin.

Warning to Mothers

With these warm days, children will run barefoot. Mother's. there is danger! A rusty nail, a piece of glass might cause a wound and that wound might be the entrance of a germ, of the deadly germ of lock-jaw.

It is cheaper to prevent than to cure. Let me insure your little chaps in fitting them with the Best Shoes or Barefoot Sandals for children on the market, and all at extra reasonable prices. Good and reasonable prices is my motto you all know it.

Getting the Exact Spot.

An emergency call from a policeman for a tape measure kept two women waiting in the dressmaker's parlor for five minutes. There were other tape measures there which the dressmaker might have used, but she was too busy pondering the circumstance that had suddenly converted her into an ally of the police department. Presently the policeman returned the tape.

"What did you want it for?" she asked.

"To help find the right place to shoot a horse with a broken leg," he said. "The vital spot is just three inches above that little swirl in his forehead where a dozen crowns seem to meet. I am not very good at guessing, so we thought it safest to find the exact spot with a tape measure."—New York Sun.

Music of the Drum.

All musical authorities have agreed that when used in a proper way the drum is thoroughly musical. The common snare or side drum is freely used in musical composition. A large number of drummers performing simultaneously out of doors produce good music. In this connection Berlioz, the composer, pointed out that a sound that was insignificant when heard singly, such as the clink of one or two muskets at shoulder arms or the thud as the butt comes to the ground at ground arms, becomes brilliant and attractive if performed by a thousand men together.

Crumpled Them.

We observe that the man's fingers are all twisted and bent into the most uncouth shapes.

"Poor fellow!" we say to our friend. "Evidently he is a victim of rheumatism."

"No," our friend explains. "He is deaf and dumb and has been trying to talk Scotch dialect on his fingers."—Life.

Would Have to Move.

"Well, that's no great calamity. Suppose Jimmy had whipped the janitor's son!"—Pittsburg Post.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 8.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

UNIVERSITY OF FRANCE.

Essentially the Same Today as When Established by Napoleon.

In the United States there are many universities which are free from state control, but in France there is only one university, and it is an absolute instrument of the state. It is true that there are schools of higher learning which were founded in 1870 as universities, but five years afterward the title was withdrawn, and they are now called "instituts." They are five in number and are located in Paris, Lille, Lyons, Toulouse and Angers.

But the University of France is an entirely different organization. It is the official school. It is centralized in Paris and has under it a vast multitude of establishments, faculties, college and primary schools, distributed over the whole surface of the country. Directly or indirectly they all depend on the government.

The university was established by Napoleon, and in spite of certain modifications which it has undergone during years it is the same today in its essential elements as the day he founded it. Just as he established the entire civil administration, with its prefects, subprefects, judges, ministers of finance, so he created in 1806 this vast educational organization, with its countless professors, who control the entire intellectual training of France.—America.

Ancient Rome's Libraries.

The libraries of ancient Rome were immense and splendid. Lucullus, whose name is associated with table luxuries, expended much of his wealth on books. His library, says Plutarch, had "walks, galleries and cabinets open to all visitors." Julius Caesar proposed to open this library definitely to the public.

How were these vast libraries, in addition to the book shops, filled? With his trained staff of readers and transcribers, a publisher could turn out an edition of any work at very cheap rates, and almost at a moment's notice. There was no initial expense of typesetting before a single copy could be produced, no ruinous extras in the shape of printers' corrections. The manuscript came from the author; the publisher handed it over to his slaves, and if a book of modest dimensions, the complete edition could be ready, if necessary, within twenty-four hours. Actually, then, books were produced and sold more easily and quickly in ancient Rome than they are in modern London.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

The "Iliad" Not a Myth.

The fall of Troy after a ten year siege by the Grecian princes about 1184 B. C. has long been considered as a rather mythical foundation for Homer's immortal epic, the "Iliad." But in 1876 the excavations of Schliemann on the reputed site of Troy brought to light under the ashes of two superincumbent fortress cities the remains answering to the descriptions of Homer and a hidden vault containing goblets, bowls, vases, gems, jewels, armes de luxe and like articles in gold, silver and bronze. These treasures are now generally acknowledged to be the veritable remnants of the once vast riches of Priam, which, although depleted by ten years of costly warfare in the purchase of supplies and mercenaries and the final sack of the ruined city, were thus preserved to enrich the museums of Europe and greatly increase our realization of the wealth and art of that ancient Ilium, which we have hitherto been disposed to consider a poet's dream.—Charles Winslow Hall in National Magazine.

Old Carving Terms.

In a list of carving terms in use in 1696, which appeared in Dr. Salmon's "Receipts," are the following:

"Leach that brawn. Lift that swan. Rear that goose. Spoil that hen. Fract that chicken. Sauce that capon. Unbrace that mallard. Unlace that coney. Dismember that heron. Disfigure that peacock. Display that crane. Untach that curley. Unjoin that bittern. Allay that pheasant. Wing that quail. Mince that plover. Wing that partridge. Thigh that pigeon. Border that pastry. Thigh that woodcock. Break that hare.

Heard in the Hall.

"You don't know enough to stay in when it rains," derisively said the cane to the umbrella.

"Look here," retorted the umbrella, "such bluffs from a mere stick like you don't go with me. My motto is 'Put up or shut up' every time."

A Famous Cemetery.

Greenwood cemetery, in Brooklyn, noted the world over for its beauty and the magnificence of its monuments, shafts and mausoleums, contains more than 315,000 bodies. It has an area of 474 acres and about fifteen miles of walks.

Two Sets of Muscles.

You have two sets of muscles—the outer ones, which you can feel, and the inner ones, which are your lungs, heart, stomach and other internal organs. The outer ones are conveniences for performing actions. The inner ones are your life—the "fate" which makes you happy or depressed, powerful or weak, useful or the contrary. These inner muscles require training, just like any other muscles, by intelligently directed exercise.—J. Edmund Thompson in National Magazine.

Music of Flapping Wings.

The slow flapping of a butterfly's wings produces no sound. When the movements are rapid a noise is produced, which increases with the number of vibrations. Thus the housefly, which produces the sound of F, vibrates its wings 21,120 times a minute, or 335 times a second, and the bee, which makes the sound of A, as many as 26,400 times, or 440 times a second. A tired bee hums on E and therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 330 times a second.

Hours of Rest.

One hour of rest as a rule, should be the same every night. It is not safe for even the most robust and healthy to violate the law of regularity in this matter. The man or woman who retires and rises at irregular periods, varying from two to four or six hours, as many are accustomed to do, cannot enjoy good health or live long and happily. Every one should adopt a rule to retire at a certain hour and adhere to it as strictly as possible, never deviating from it except in emergencies.

HARD ON THE BOROUGHS.

By a partial publication of the State and county tax duplicates, five boroughs in the county are shown to pay more than one-fifth of all the State and county taxes. When the assessment of all the boroughs is counted it will be found that the towns, which for the most part carry a bonded indebtedness for street paving, sewering, policing, etc pay more of the county expenses than the farming interests, who get the biggest end of the expenditures. The farmers pay a minimum local tax for roads and schools while the boroughs are heavily taxed for borough expenses, street paving and schools. Fallowfield township, for example, has been paying half a mill school tax while Charleroi's school tax is 15 mills. At the same time Charleroi pays nearly as much of the county taxation as Fallowfield, while the latter gets a lot more direct benefit from the county.

In 1905 when the first attempt was made to get political prestige from the so-called roads movement, in order to play for the farmer vote, statistics were carefullly prepared at the county seat showing at that time that the assessment of farm lands was 35 per cent of the county valuation, while the assessment of boroughs constituted 37 per cent, the balance, 28 per cent being levied on coal lands. It was pointed out that the assessments in the boroughs and on coal lands would constantly increase, so that these interests would bear the burden of making the county roads, and the farmers, who would derive the most benefit would have the least to pay. Thus they would get roads largely at the expense of the boroughs and they would have the use of the borough streets besides, without the latter costing the user a cent.

If the boroughs paid 37 per cent of the county expenses in 1905, they pay infinitely more now, and of all the expenditures incurred by the county commissioners for the years to come the bulk of the burden will fall upon the boroughs.
